OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Nov. 28, 1868.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

The annual report of the Agricultural Department by Commissioner Capron is now in press. It will make a volume of 1,200 pages, with 37 full page illustrations, and in addition to the report of the Commissioner and the reports of heads of Bureau, it will contain about 25 pages on different subjects from the pens of writers in various parts of the country.

Commissioner Taylor, of the Indian Bureau, has laid his annual report for the last fiscal year before the Secretary of the Interior. He estimates the number of Indians in the United States at a little over $300,000, including those in Alaska. Mr. Taylor thinks it very sad that the Indians are decreasing from year to year and fading away so rapidly from the nations of the earth, and he blames the whites mostly for this sad state of affairs. He recommends placing all Indians on reservations, and thinks the Government should then feed, clothe, educate, and do a great many fine things for them, which it cannot do for its own citizens. A few days ago this worthy Commissioner received letters stating that the Kansas volunteers were about to attack the "peaceable Indians" (who ever heard of Indians that were not peaceable) near Fort Cobb, whereupon he hastened to lay the information before the Secretary of the Interior, with a request that he do all in his power to avert the threatened massacre and secure the subsistence and protection of these Indians, who have been robbing and murdering all summer, and now find it convenient to make peace and eat Uncle Sam's grub all winter, so as to be in good fighting trim again in the spring. Whenever the troops get the advantage of the Indians they invariably take shelter under the wing of the Interior Department, which protects and feeds them until they get ready for another war. It is about time such humbuggery was stopped by placing the Indians under the control of the army or otherwise reforming this abuse.

Gen. Sherman's report is devoted principally to the condition of the Indians. He thinks they should be gathered on reservations where they can be reduced to the peaceful condition of shepherds, herders and farmers.

Gen. Halleck's report of the condition of the military division of the Pacific, which includes California, Oregon, Nevada, Washington, Alaska, Idaho and Arizona, says the force of the division consists of 2 regiments of cavalry, 1 regiment of artillery and 4 regiments of infantry. The division comprises a territory of 1,000,218 square miles, and has a population of about 700,000 whites and about 13,000 Indians.

Gen. Sheridan's report indicates that he has a very poor opinion of the "noble red men of the forest," is opposed to Peace Commissions, and believes that there should be but one head to the Indian establishment, and that the head of the War Department.

GEN. GRANT'S ADVISERS.

Since the announcement that all applications for office were destroyed without being showed to Gen. Grant, the office seekers have turned their efforts in another direction, and the mail of the President elect is now made up of letters of advice. Nearly all the letters are from Democrats, and adopt the Copperhead supposition that Grant is a conservative. Among the names urged upon the General for positions in the Cabinet are those of Robert E. Lee and Horatio Seymour. They are urged upon the ground of magnanimity and as a reward for bravery and piety. The names of many other conservatives of the same school are suggested.

DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS — PARAGUAY — ENGLAND.

The action of President Lopez and the Copperhead authorities towards Mr. Washburn, our late Minister to Paraguay, has provoked a great deal of comment. All parties join in denouncing Lopez, and in demanding reparation for the wrongs and indignities heaped upon the American Legation, and a great many, including nearly all the Democrats, denounce Minister Washburn for permitting Messrs. Bliss and Masterson, of his Legation, to be detained in prison without ordering the steamer Wasp to fire upon the town. It is understood here that the South Atlantic squadron has been ordered to Paraguay, and that our new Minister, Gen. McMahon, has been instructed to demand satisfaction for the outrage.

Several weeks ago it was announced on what seemed to be good authority, as I stated in a letter to the OREGONIAN, that Reverdy Snob Johnson had entered into an agreement with the British Government to submit the Alabama claims to the King of Prussia for arbitration. It was afterwards stated that a mixed commission, to consist of an equal number of Englishmen and Americans, was to be appointed by their respective Governments to pass upon all individual claims, and that points of international law only were to be decided by King William, of Prussia. This in turn was contradicted and many other rumors set afloat, but it is now affirmed positively that our Government has been officially notified that a commission has been agreed upon to settle the Alabama claims, and is to sit in Washington instead of London, as first intimated. It is also said that the British Legation will present to the commission a bill against the United States Government, as an offset to the Alabama claims, amounting to $45,000,000 for alleged damages sustained by British subjects in the South during the war.

BILLS TO BE INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS.

It is understood that several important bills and resolutions have been prepared and will be passed at an early day in the next session of Congress. Among the number is a bill by Gen. Butler for the correct registration of voters in cities at least thirty days before a regular election, and providing public a complete list of the names of all voters at least fifteen days before a regular election. This list is to give every voter's name in full and place of residence, so as to prevent the registration of fictitious names to be voted by "repeaters." Senator Morton is expected to introduce an important bill, providing for the redemption of greenbacks. He will favor discontinuing the sales of gold, and urge that the surplus gold in the Treasury and that which is to accrue be appropriated for the redemption of legal-tenders, at some future time to be agreed upon and named in the bill. Many are in favor of beginning redemption in one year, while others are in favor of fixing the time at two years, and some even longer. Among the other measures of interest it is expected that a proposition will be introduced for an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing for uniform suffrage in all the States; a bill for erecting a new Executive Mansion; bill for increasing the salary of the President, and a bill for repealing the tenure-of-office act.

POSTAL CONVENTION WITH ENGLAND.

The new postal convention between the Post Office Departments of the United States and Great Britain was approved by the Postmaster General and signed by the President this week, to take effect on the 1st of January next. England abolishes the double rate postage, and the United States reduces the rates of postage on newspapers. All postages are to be divided between the two countries.

INTERNAL REVENUE MATTERS.

The Supervisors of Internal Revenue have been divided into two classes. Marr, in St. Louis; Fulton, in Baltimore; Noah, in Nashville; Dutcher, in New York; Galford, in Montgomery, and Barbour, in Boston, each will receive $3,000 per annum, and each of the others will receive $2,500. Secretary McCulloch has confirmed the nomination of Charles L. Wiggin to be Supervisor for the district composed of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona. The Secretary rejected Mr. Green for that position a few days ago. Mr. Green was a delegate in the Chicago Convention and represented California in the Committee on Resolutions, and therefore was too "radical" to meet the approbation of the Copperhead Secretary of the Treasury. Twenty-one Supervisors have been appointed and confirmed, leaving four yet to be confirmed. A special agent, who was sent into Louisiana to examine into revenue matters, has made a report which is now in the hands of Commissioner Rollins, implicating nearly all the Government officers in the State. In eighteen month's time he says the Government was defrauded by revenue officers in Louisiana of $11,000,000 on cotton and whisky alone.

THE FREEDMAN'S BUREAU DISCONTINUED.

In accordance with the act of Congress of the 25th of July, 1868, which the Republicans passed and the Democrats all voted against, General Howard has issued an order discontinuing the Freedmen's Bureau after the first of January next. A few officers are retained, as provided by law, to superintend the educational department and the collection and payment of moneys due sailors and soldiers. With this exception, amounting to only four or five officers and assistants in each Southern State, the Freedmen's Bureau will be entirely suspended, notwithstanding the fact that every Democrat in both Houses voted against the act to discontinue it.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Last Thursday, the 26th, the day appointed by the President for thanksgiving, was very generally observed in this city, all the public buildings being closed and many of the stores and business houses. Turkeys and chickens were in great demand, and good dinners were the order of the day.

PERSONAL.

Senator Corbett and wife have gone to New York to spend a few days before the opening of Congress. Senators Morton, Sherman, Howe and a number of other Senators and members of Congress have arrived and taken up their winter quarters, and others are coming in daily. By the latter part of next week nearly all the members will be here, and Washington will be crowded with people. K.

Missouri River, Fort Scott and Gulf Railroad.

[From the Kansas City Times.]

This road, one of the most important to the interests and future welfare of Kansas City and the country around us, and generally known as the Galveston road, is now progressing rapidly, and it is designed by the company to reach the southern Kansas line in the coming year, which will give them one hundred and sixty miles of complete road. As this is, as we before stated, an important road to our interests, we propose to speak of it more fully, and give some facts in connection with it, that our citizens may understand, in a measure, its future.

This road was organized under the laws of the State of Kansas, and by an act of Congress special authority was given to extend the same through the Cherokee neutral lands, continuing south, or nearly so, to a town called Preston, on the northern boundary of Texas, and there connect with the Texas Central Railroad, thereby forming a continuous line to the Gulf, a distance from Kansas City of about 700 miles, Galveston being the southern terminus. Congress in the act spoken of, approved July 25, 1866, made a grant of ten sections of land per mile of road, including the Indian territory, whenever the Indian titles shall be extinguished. This grant, including the one of 125,000 acres from the State of Kansas, will and does place the road in a solvent condition, while every mile of completed road will add to its income. To show, in a measure, the value of the lands held by this company, we call attention to the Indian reservation, a tract of land twenty-five miles east and west by fifty north and south, containing some 800,000 acres, of which the company will hold about 650,000, and as fine a body of lands as can be found in the Union. In the eastern portion coal and lead are found in abundance, and large deposits of marble of firmness and beauty, resembling the Egyptian in appearance. The whole distance this road passes through a rich agricultural and grazing country, which, in its development, will tax the full capacity of the road. As first formed, this road was to run to the southern boundary of Kansas, was called the Kansas and Neosho Valley Railroad, and was organized in 1865. The entire length of the road, when completed to Red river, at or near Preston, will be 375 miles. From there the Texas Central completes the line to Galveston, and is about 425 miles long, of which 175 miles of the road is in running order. The Texas Central Railroad, however, properly begins at Houston, Texas, fifty miles nearly north of Galveston. The Galveston and Houston road is under a separate charter, has been in use for several years, and was built by Col. Waterman, recently of this road. It will, however, run in connection with the Central road, making one continuous line to the Gulf. The Texas road is being pushed forward with energy, and is expected to be completed to Red river the coming year, having but 150 miles to finish.

The completion of our road next year to the southern Kansas line, will open up a trade that will give a wonderful impetus to our city. The freight of the stock trade of the Indian country and of Texas, the farm produce and the lumber from the great pineries of the South, will give the road all it can do to meet the demand upon it. The road is of easy grade generally, about thirty-five feet per mile going north, and forty feet per mile going south, being the maximum. The heaviest work will be through Linn county. There are two routes, and it is not yet decided which one to take, but probably it will bear to the west by the way of Mound City, the county town of Linn county. There will be tunneling and trestle-work on this route, but the design is to go by those towns already located, opening up more extensively the freight and passenger traffic of the road. Since this road has become known, and the road designated, the country has looked upon the most wonderful emigration. Thousands are daily settling along the line or in proximity to it, and with the mildness of its climate, the fertility of the soil, and the pure air, and the healthfulness it engenders, will invite and give it a density of population that will contribute to such an extent to the wealth and prosperity of Kansas City, that few of our citizens can now form a just conception. Our situation on the Missouri river, giving us a water communication with the East and the Gulf, and above all, the fact that Kansas City, by this line, will be the shortest line from navigatable water, in the very heart of the continent to tide water, is sufficient suggestion of the great value of this road, and to the future importance of Kansas City.

A PORTRAIT FOR THE TIMES.—This sharp portrait of the political Pilate of our day is from a late sermon of Henry Ward Beecher.

I had rather be a Puritan than Pilate. What is a Pilate? A Pilate is one of those courtly gentlemen polished, tasteful, expert, who is not disturbed nor warped by convictions in over-measure; who looks upon all moral qualities as a gambler looks upon his cards, which he shuffles, and plays according to the exigency of his game—and one just as easy as another. A Pilate is a man who believes in letting things have their own way. "Do not sacrifice yourself. Do not get in the way of a movement. Do the best thing. Live in peace with your time. Be not like the fool, who stands in his own light. Maintain good appearance that is profitable. See to it that you do not go too far, one way or another. Study the interests of number one all through. And, whatever comes, see that you come out uppermost. Do not be gross, brutal, fanatical that is not profitable. Preserve your balance. See that you keep your eye on the chances. If they go this way, you go with them far enough to reap them. Do not be too scrupulous. Be just enough so to gain your ends. Use man, use events, use every thing that is profitable. Do not use your conscience too much!" This is the language of the Pilates of our day. Those men who ride astride of the times, and of administrations, and of policies; those men who are polished, cold, calculating, speculating—these are the pirates—the Pilates, I mean. It was a blunder of the lip; but, after all, it hit right.

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 1[illegible] 1868

Illustrations by Contrast

It will serve [illegible] to point a moral to [illegible] set in contrast portions of Mr Johnson's first message with portions of his last [illegible]. It cannot escape observation that [illegible] message to Congress was as totally [illegible] in spirit from the last as if the [illegible] tions had been prepared by different [illegible] very antipodes of each other [illegible] thought and in political opinions. His first message was full of charity and [illegible] and hope; his last is full of bitterness, [illegible] insult and hypochondria all [illegible]. [illegible] years ago he thought the national debt [illegible] nothing, considered in reference to the expanding energies and resources of the country. Since that time it has been reduced at the rate of one hundred million a year, yet he now talks about it as an insupportable burden and virtually advises repudiation. In his first message he spoke of the debt in this cheerful manner: "Vast as its amount, it fades away into nothing when compared with the countless blessings conferred upon our country and upon mankind by the preservation of the nation's life. The most [illegible] observers among political economists have not failed to remark that the public debt of a country is safe in proportion as its people are free; that the debt of a republic is the safest of all. Here all men contribute to the public welfare and bear their fair share of the public burdens." And in his last message he proceeds to verify this theory, but the safety of the debt of a republic by advising Congress to repudiate our national obligations. Three years ago he had the grace to say that "here all men bear their fair share of the public burdens." Now he inveighs against the public creditors as a privileged [illegible] and attempts to excite popular passion against them as a monied aristocracy. He would say in 1865: "Every reduction will diminish the total amount of interest to be paid until the whole debt shall be liquidated, and this, as will be seen by the estimates of the Secretary of the Treasury, may be accomplished within a period not exceeding thirty years. I have faith that we shall do all this within a reasonable time, that as we have amazed the world by the suppression of a civil war which was thought to be beyond the control of any government, so we shall equally show the [illegible] of our institutions by the prompt and faithful discharge of our national obligations." In his last message he comes down from this high position, advises Congress to stop paying interest and expresses the belief that the country can never pay the debt according to the bond—though the [illegible] of reduction which has been [illegible] during the last three years would [illegible] the whole debt in a much less period than the "thirty years" about which he talked so hopefully. "Here," said he in his message of 1865, "through the easy development of boundless resources, wealth has increased with two-fold greater rapidity than numbers, so that we have become secure against the financial vicissitudes of other countries and alike in [illegible] and in opinion are self-centered and truly independent." The lessons of the [illegible]," said he in his message of 1868, "[illegible] the lender that it is not well to be [illegible] in exacting from the borrower [illegible] compliance,"—meaning that if the public creditor insists upon being dealt with fairly and honestly according to the terms of the contract, the Government will probably [illegible] its obligations, that the creditor [illegible] take what dishonest parsimony would give [illegible] or receive nothing at all. What a [illegible] between the two documents. But [illegible] is no enigma. The message of 1865 was written before he had apostatized [illegible] the principles which he had professed [illegible] the war and upon which the Union [illegible] of the nation had placed him on their ticket with the great and honest Lincoln.

To illustrate a little further by contrast, let us [illegible] brief passages from his message of 1867. "We live," said he in his message of [illegible] ago, "in a country where the [illegible] will always enforces obedience to it [illegible] sooner or later. It is vain to think of [illegible] it with anything short of legal authority backed up by overwhelming force." Yet what does he do in the message he has just sent to Congress but continue his opposition to the "popular will," though it has [illegible] expressed in so emphatic a manner that even he, with all his obstinate stolidity, can not [illegible] it? The elections of 1867, turning on local issues, had in many places resulted unfavorably to the Republicans. Johnson accepted this result as an endorsement of his "policy" and a condemnation of Congress, and in his message of 1867 he remarked with egotistical self complacency: "It gives me pleasure to add that the appeal to our common constituents was not taken in vain, and that my [illegible] in their wisdom and virtue seems [illegible] misplaced." But now, after the appeal to the people has [illegible] in an election in which all local and [illegible] were brushed aside, he has nothing to say about the people's "wisdom and virtue," but continues in his obstinate course. No doubt he is now convinced that his "confidence" was misplaced; indeed he virtually says as much by his continued [illegible] tion to the popular will which he once declared it was vain to oppose. His remark in his message of 1867 that "we live in a country where the popular will always enforces obedience to itself" will be exemplified in a signal manner by his ejection from the White House in a few weeks more.

VERY DEMOCRATIC.—Our two neighbors of the Democratic press are exceedingly Democratic; in fact they seem to be trying to out Confederate the Confederates themselves. The Herald rarely uses any language milder than "Rump conclave of cowardly assassins and perjured traitors"—meaning the Congress of the United States; and this formula of words, or something closely resembling it, has appeared in that paper every day for a week. The Commercial is not quite so fastidious as the Herald [illegible] words, that is to say it rarely gets [illegible] anything [illegible] so elegant as the above, but it is [illegible] Democratic in sentiment as its [illegible]. It hints very strongly at the [illegible] pudiation, advises General Grant [illegible] Democrat, thinks he ought to [illegible] as General Lee and A H Stephens [illegible] and is of opinion that there will [illegible] unless a "conservative and patriotic [illegible]" like this is adopted by the new [illegible]. Both our neighbors are evidently laboring under the delusion that the Lost Cause is yet destined to be revived and to become successful, and this hallucination is giving them a great deal of trouble.

The Polk county paper says Gov. Woods has app[illegible] J L Collins Judge of that county to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W C Whitson.

Prophets of Evil

It is the fashion of a [illegible] rabble [illegible] for [illegible] among us to represent that the people are sinking beneath the burden of the national debt; that bankruptcy, ruin and starvation are before them, and that, in fact, these [illegible] consequences [illegible] begun. There appears to be an [illegible] of it these pervert [illegible]. [illegible] the spirit [illegible] of this country [illegible] it [illegible] and [illegible] was pouring forth the [illegible] continually engaged the [illegible] prosperity. But it would [illegible] the [illegible] there [illegible] many of them are [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible] our [illegible] idea that [illegible] possess them [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] of repudiating these obligations. They [illegible] agitators [illegible] treasury [illegible] to silence them. [illegible] clear enough on reflection that the taxes, for the far greater proportion, fly over the heads of people of small means and resources; these agitators are continually declaring that the poor are crushed into the dust by taxation while the rich are exempt from all the burdens of government. It is a truth which has [illegible] demonstrated that a very large proportion of [illegible] debt is held by persons of moderate means; there are tens of thousands who hold [illegible] securities in sums of less than five hundred dollars. The large holders are few, but they do not escape untaxed. They pay taxes on their incomes and on the luxuries their wealth enables them to possess, and thus we find that where the national securities are held in large sums there are steady contributions from the debt to the payment. It is complained that many of these loans were taken on hard terms for the Government. But it must be remembered that great risks were taken by the lenders. It is an obvious fact that monied men must be allowed to set a value on their money; if they did not there could be no monied men. Long ago Burke declared, when dealing with a certain class of men in England similar to somehow in America, that it is a great mistake to imagine, as too commonly, almost indeed generally, it is imagined, that the public borrower and the private lender are two adverse parties with different and contending interests, and that what is given to the one is wholly taken from the other.

This master spirit, when laboring with all his energies to stimulate England to renewed efforts against the haughty regicides of France, when elaborating those wonderful compositions which awoke the spirit of his countrymen, which taught them their duty and their power, and which were thus the prime means which overthrew the colossal power of Napoleon, used language which is applicable here at a time like this when so many people are predicting that our country is to be ruined by the weight of its debt. "If," said Burke, in reply to those who asserted that the debt of England was overwhelming her,—"if no class is lessened in its numbers or in other stock or in its conveniences, or even in its luxuries; if they build as many habitations, and as elegant and commodious as ever, and furnish them with every chargeable decoration and every prodigality of ingenious invention that can be thought of by those who even encumber their necessities with superfluous accommodation; if they are as numerously attended; if their equipages are as splendid; if they regale at the table with as much or more variety of plenty than ever; if they are clad in as expensive and changeful a diversity according to their tastes and modes; if the theatres are as rich and well filled and greater, and at a higher price than ever; and, what is more important than all, if it is plain from the treasures which are spread over the soil and confided to the winds and seas that there are as many who are as indulgent to their propensities of parsimony as others to their voluptuous desires, and that pecuniary capital grows instead of diminishing; on what ground are we authorized to say that a nation gamboling in an ocean of superfluity is undone by want? With what face can we pretend that they who have not denied any one gratification to any one appetite have a right to plead poverty in order to famish their virtues and to put their duties on short allowance?" These are questions which the croakers about our debt would do well to ponder. Their application to the case is perfect and they enforce their own lesson.

A BRILLIANT SCHEME.—The Oregon Rump seems to have decided on a plan of action. At any rate Col Chapman has written a communication which appears to be the result of an agreement among the Democratic members advising that they shall meet on the 4th of March and that the House shall then issue writs of election to fill the vacancies, thus usurping one of the constitutional prerogatives of the Governor. This no doubt is thought to be a very clever expedient, but there are several obstacles to its success. The county authorities will probably take no notice whatever of the usurping action of the Rump. They will not be likely to provide polls, [illegible] canvass the returns or certify to the election of members. And if the programme [illegible] be carried out and a body calling itself a Legislature assemble at the capital and assume Legislative powers, nobody would respect its authority. The Governor would not [illegible] its acts, and the Treasurer would hardly [illegible] himself liable by opening the State [illegible] at the command of an irresponsible [illegible] unconstitutional body. Do the members of the Rump really think that the Treasurer, who has given bonds in a very large sum to safely keep the State funds, would [illegible] pay out the money which [illegible] might assume to appropriate. When all these reckless Democratic partisans [illegible] repudiators and violators of the National Constitution, these insulters of Congress and [illegible] supporters of [illegible] principles, we can tell them that their whole scheme [illegible] will [illegible]. They refused to [illegible] while the Legislature was in session [illegible] and their time in talking [illegible] this Congress and a majority of the people of the country and in annulling the Constitution of the United States; they refused to pass the appropriation bills [illegible] to provide for current expenses, and now must [illegible] stand until the next regular session. [illegible] the shape [illegible] which Democratic [illegible] and violent partisanship have brought them, Col Chapman and his confederates may sputter and exhort; it will cost nothing, for neither their time nor their wind is very valuable.

Ocean Steam Navigation

F[illegible] H M[illegible], formerly a Congressman from Maine and now our Consul at [illegible], has sent to the State Department at Washington a paper on the foreign commerce of the United States. He dwells especially upon steam navigation, which has [illegible] stationary in the United States during the past [illegible] years, but has progressed in Great Britain [illegible] British [illegible]. [illegible] screw propeller [illegible] years ago was [illegible] applicable for want of [illegible] mail and passenger boats [illegible] of propulsion for sea-going steamers. The quickest passage [illegible] the Atlantic has been made by a screw steamer. They are at least equally safe [illegible] less [illegible] for freight, and they are [illegible] economy than paddle wheel steamers. All the steamers in the [illegible] line to [illegible] New York are screws, and all the steamers put in the Cunard line since the [illegible] commenced running are screw steamers. Steam [illegible] has already [illegible] effected an [illegible] the carrying of passengers of all classes and [illegible] the transport of all the [illegible] has begun rather [illegible] sailing vessels in certain [illegible] trade for the carrying of raw materials [illegible] bulky articles of commerce. The application of steam to navigation has already reached such a point in its outward progress that if all steamers were constructed on the best plan now known, except for long voyages on which they cannot now be profitably used as freighters, it would not take one-fourth of the tonnage of steam vessels that it now takes to do the same work with sailing vessels. Even if freight and passage were somewhat higher they would be willingly paid to secure so much greater dispatch [illegible] and lower rates of insurance. If the very [illegible] experiments now being made under [illegible] in England and America [illegible] generate steam by means of petroleum and [illegible] complete success as we have reason to [illegible] a new and [illegible] important era in steam navigation will be reached. But whatever may be the conclusion of the petroleum experiment now in progress, we may confidently look forward to a time when greater results than are now expected to be reached through petroleum and coal oils will be fully realized through some satisfactory means. America has justly gained a name for being among the foremost in all useful improvements and great enterprises, and it will be a check to her maritime prosperity and a [illegible] on her commercial reputation, if she be not a more active participant in the progress which she has helped to make and which is now going forward at such a rapid pace in ocean navigation.

SYMPATHIZING FRIENDS.—Our Washington letter informs us that the Secretary of the Treasury rejected the nomination of Green of California for Supervisor of Internal Revenue in that State because he (Green) was a delegate in the Chicago Convention and a member of the Committee on Resolutions. Mr McCulloch deemed him too "radical" for the position. But there was no objection of this kind to urge against Bayley of Oregon, who was appointed to a similar position. McCulloch had doubtless learned that Bayley had voted in the Oregon Legislature against the Fourteenth Amendment and that he is pledged to do what he can to defeat the Republican party in future, and therefore he thought him just the man for the place. These Copper Johnsons understand each other. A slice of official bread and butter makes the whole crowd kin.

HARD TO PLEASE.—The two Democratic papers of this city are grumbling because Senator Williams has introduced a bill to exclude the Asiatic races from American citizenship. They think the Chinaman should be made a citizen if the negro is. Perhaps they do not know that by the National Constitution every negro is now a citizen both of the United States and the State where he resides. Do they want to make the Chinaman a citizen because the negro has been admitted to citizenship? They seem to be very hard to please on this question.

Seymour carried three Northern States, viz: New York, New Jersey and Oregon, by an aggregate majority of less than that given for Grant in the three adjoining counties of Cook, Lake and DuPage, and General Farnsworth is re-elected to Congress by a larger majority than Seymour received in those States. If none but legal votes had been cast Seymour would have carried just one State north of the slaveholding section of the Union, viz: Oregon, which casts three electoral votes.—Chicago Times.

No, not even Oregon. Had Idaho and Washington Territories been kept out of Oregon, Grant and Colfax would have carried the State by a handsome majority.

STATE ITEMS

The levy in Josephine county for 1868, is five cents on the hundred dollars and one dollar poll tax. The Commissioners seem determined to get that county out of debt.

The Eugene City Guard says that a little child of Mr and Mrs Cook, of that place, was playing on the floor with a doll, when she fell down and immediately died. The child had a slight attack of diptheria a few days before.

Says the Sentinel: The Enterprise Quartz Mill in Josephine county, lately sold by the Sheriff, has been purchased by our fellow townsman [illegible] Karasky for the sum of $876. We are unable to say whether he will start it running the present winter or not.

The mileage of the messenger who carries the Electoral vote of this State to Washington is [illegible] at $1,[illegible]00 in currency, which will barely pay expenses. The Sentinel thinks the Democratic messenger who offers the forlorn vote of Oregon at the crumbling shrine of Democracy, won't have so much to say about Republican extravagance by the time he returns.

PUGET SOUND

From the Olympia Transcript 12th.

The regular term of the Supreme Court has been in session during the week, having convened on Monday and will continue next week. Hon C C Hewitt, Chief Justice, and Hons B F Dennison and J E Wyche, Associates, present. An unusually large bar was in attendance.

By the arrival of the steamer yesterday morning we learn that the small pox has broken out again at Teekalet. The ship [illegible], which brought up one case mentioned before, was fumigated and sent to the dock and her load[illegible] [illegible] everybody being let out of quarantine, when [illegible] were taken sick with the disease. They have been sent into quarantine again.

The establishment of two new post offices down the Sound has been recommended to the Department at Washington, one at Skagit, a point up the Skagit river, and the other at Fidalgo.

There was no mail again on Thursday night. It is reported that the steamer had a canoe loaded with [illegible] from Sa[illegible] Island to [illegible], which detained her.

From [illegible] McKenny we learn that he has succeeded in capturing all the Indians (six) concerned in the [illegible]. The prompt action on the part of the Superintendent and his assistants [illegible] commendable, and we believe without parallel in the history of the Territory [illegible] number were engaged in a murder [illegible].

[illegible] gentleman from Oregon, who has great expectations in the new town of Ta[illegible] over last week to start a regular line [illegible] steamer [illegible] that place and [illegible] with the first on Monday morning. If [illegible] weaken before long [illegible] that [illegible] western [illegible] as a man of [illegible] Ta[illegible] will [illegible] inhabitants [illegible] few [illegible] says the new mill company will [illegible] half a million dollars in mills and [illegible] at that place very shortly. All of which we [illegible] will [illegible] come to pass.

[illegible], Superintendent of Common Schools of [illegible] county, publishes a report of the same, in which he says there are [illegible] scholars in the county, twenty [illegible] school districts, fifteen schools [illegible] and [illegible] paid to teachers, but he thinks the true sum nearer $1,000 [illegible]. He [illegible] a marked and decidedly increased interest in schools the past year. He also announces that the territorial convention of Superintendents will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, January 4th and 5th, 1869.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

JACKSONVILLE, Dec [illegible].—A case of small pox is reported here by the physician. It is in a mild form and there is no alarm.

ALBANY, Dec [illegible].—To-day the jury in the case of the State of Oregon vs Lyman W Pomeroy, charged with poisoning his wife some nine months ago, brought in a verdict of not guilty, after being out only twenty minutes. A special term of Court was convened for this trial. Pomeroy left for his home to-day.

CANYONVILLE, Dec 17.—A case of small pox is reported in this place.

CHARITY.—A large class of people professing to be [illegible] forget that to be charitable [illegible] the least [illegible] can possess. It is not always by giving money to the poor or assisting the afflicted that a person can only show their charity. A good [illegible] is [illegible] who wishes to purchase a comme[illegible] [illegible] the Clothing, Dry Goods [illegible] toward that person to [illegible] go to [illegible] & Fleischner [illegible] certain that at that House they can purchase at the lowest rates and receive good goods, and where the most particular can be satisfied?

I herewith issue my Annual PROCLAMATION!!!

Dear Parents and Children, once more I appear
And wish you good Christmas and Happy New Year!
I've brought you glad tidings—I've opened once more
My Budget of Wonders—at McCormick's Book Store!
I've spread out my treasures, so give me a call
And view the nice GIFTS I've procured for you all.
My Presents this year were conveyed to the town
By Mercer's snow clipper, the swift Sallie Brown.
The stock is most complete. The assortment comprises
Curiosities [illegible] of all shapes and all sizes.
I've Dolls that talk—I've babies that [illegible]
(Some very handsome I purchased in France.)
I've Fish that can swim—I've Roosters who strive
To crow so like nature you'd think they're alive!
I've Guns and I've Cannon—I've neat Savings Banks
And Soldiers that look very neat when in ranks.
I've Puzzles and Pistols. Then Christmas to keep,
I've Candles, Reflectors and Brackets—a heap!
I've beautiful Baskets (a nice gift for Ma)
And handsome Cigar Stands—just suited for Pa!
While there's nothing so welcome to uncle or aunt
As a beautiful portrait of President Grant.
I've Work Boxes—handsome as ever were made—
With ladies' [illegible] all nicely arrayed.
I've nice setts of China—I've Vases of Flowers
And Musical Boxes that play at all hours.
I've Furniture, Villages, Steamboats and Blocks,
That gay little joker, called Jack in the Box!
I've Tables, and Dressers for China or delf.
I've nice Solitaire that you play by yourself!
I've now Magic Lanterns—a beautiful sight
To make all good children merry at night.
For girls at school I've a nice Skipping Rope
And for family fun I've the new Zoetrope.
I've Cameras that [illegible] and Books that amuse.
For Gifts to good people I never refuse.
In fine, I've got all that each heart could desire,
To name them all over your patience I'd tire.
But call on me early, or call on me late,
I'll visit your houses all over this State—
In Washington's clime—up in young Idaho—
I'm sure to find children wherever I go.
I've travelled for years—you almost remember
I'll be Sixty nine at the end of December.
My hair is all white and my body doth tend
To the latest sensation—the new Grecian bend!
On Christmas-Eve night, as in bed you all sleep,
With pack on my back down each chimney I'll creep.
I'll lay out my Presents, but oh! 'twill be shocking
Should I find a hole in any one's stocking!
So for HOLIDAY GOODS—for Dolls sweet as honey,
Go to McCORMICK'S—you'll save half your money!
Nice Presents or Gifts—any kind you require
You'll find at the "FRANKLIN"—(the number enquire)
On FRONT STREET, Near Alder—105.
In fact you can't miss it—and when you arrive,
Don't ask goods at cost for you'll find if you try
That goods sold at cost always cost very high.
But to purchasers all, this maxim I'd give:
Live well yourself and [illegible] let others live.

VALUABLE NEWS CONCERNING OREGON.—The New [illegible] Crescent gives some valuable information [illegible] news scraps concerning Oregon. It says "Portland [illegible] eight thousand inhabitants, six railroads and no [illegible]." We accept the eight thousand inhabitants [illegible] [illegible] the way. At all events, if we have not [illegible] we shall [illegible] in the course of time; as that [illegible] Crescent [illegible] is sure to come true. We have [illegible] doubts about the railroad clause. [illegible] it is believed, but we haven't seen them. We don't object to six, if [illegible] man can point them out, as [illegible] [illegible] from it that we should feel [illegible] could behold one. We [illegible] a valuable institution—handy to have in the house. It may be we shall have one some of these days, [illegible] the Crescent man will [illegible] with embellishments. He might say now, [illegible] imagination for his facts that the [illegible] drawing [illegible] of railroad projects in Oregon has been [illegible] under construction, each of which is grappling with the other by the books of the law and engaged in a grand wrestling match for the [illegible] subsidy. As yet we can't venture to [illegible] in the [illegible] which is the uppermost dog in the fight. We are [illegible] praying a good deal for both of them [illegible] We think they ought to let up on their fight. We [illegible] had already [illegible] big talk and waddle of all sizes, and [illegible] and gymnastics though to be candid, we [illegible] [illegible] The muddle is probably not [illegible] ended yet. But after all when the [illegible] shall have ended, we [illegible] wish we could say [illegible] wealth, energy and intelligence of our [illegible] to their own highest [illegible] will have their termini at Portland [illegible] inhabitants [illegible] Well, then, we [illegible] that no "there [illegible] in high life as well as in low," we may [illegible] this here is neither high nor low. The C[illegible] [illegible] but we don't [illegible] We would [illegible] to be as high as some people and could not be so low as some others. The betwixt-and-[illegible] and perhaps all things [illegible] the most [illegible] Content say we.

MORE JUVENILE RUFFIANISM.—[illegible] stance of juvenile ruffi[illegible] acts would seem to [illegible] the city authorities. On W[illegible] a gang of boys, some of whom are in the habit of [illegible] about the city in no creditable way, [illegible] after a Chinaman somewhere up about Fourth [illegible] down Morrison, hurling at him [illegible] whatever they could lay their [illegible] took refuge, finally in the W[illegible] [illegible] dispersed the gang of [illegible] boys. The Chinaman was not hurt, but he was in [illegible] the raid was going on. It would have been [illegible] body on the street as the [illegible] struck them. Mr Bothwell, [illegible] after the boys, who had by this time [illegible] We learned from him that he caught one of them [illegible] and gave him some [illegible] arrest. Admonition is not what these [illegible] A little practical [illegible] by their parents or guardians at home, or if that won't do, a little [illegible] in the city jail, will be [illegible] safety of the streets for ladies [illegible] these young rowdies be [illegible] to send a child upon the st[illegible] after dark. It would [illegible] surprise most people to learn how [illegible] and very small ones too, are out [illegible] night or even later [illegible] at a late hour will [illegible] prowling around, evidently on no [illegible] on evil that is constantly growing, and one that [illegible] seriously for correction.

THE VACANCY IN THE [illegible] of Recorder Hoffman will take [illegible] The office will be vacant on that day, but [illegible] We are informed that some of [illegible] hold to the opinion [illegible] filling of the vacancy can be [illegible] until the [illegible] provided, that a [illegible] by the failure of the [illegible] as provided in [illegible] upon the [illegible] of any [illegible] in any of the [illegible] of this act, shall be [illegible] election, to be held on such day as [illegible] shall direct, and in the [illegible] of the provisions of [illegible] 14 of this act [illegible] above mentioned [illegible] to provide for [illegible] till a vacancy shall [illegible] the amended charter is [illegible] blundering. The office [illegible] from the date of the taking [illegible] can [illegible] be given and [illegible] has given the Mayor [illegible] warily.

EMANCIPATION CELEBRATION.—We have [illegible] from which we learn that the [illegible] people of Oregon have [illegible] anniversary of the [illegible] in the United States [illegible] at the court [illegible] will be [illegible] by the Rt. Rev. [illegible] the [illegible] of this city and [illegible] of the State, and it is [illegible] [illegible] at the [illegible]

[illegible] Mr W[illegible] day to a lot of [illegible] put up by Mr. [illegible] Aldrich at [illegible] ahead of anything in the way of [illegible] have ever had in this market. [illegible] and then put [illegible] They are [illegible] [illegible] says that Mr Aldrich is [illegible] in this way on a large scale, the [illegible] so that he has hit upon a [illegible] will pay.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The [illegible] day. The [illegible] on Wednesday and at the [illegible] very creditable both to [illegible] and [illegible] to the parents and [illegible] The attendance of visitors at both [illegible] The examination and [illegible] school will take place [illegible] is becoming apparent that more [illegible] must be constructed, if all the [illegible] of the city are to be accommodated.

DROWNING AT SHOALWATER BAY.—[illegible] Cape Disappointment writes Dec. [illegible]th. "On [illegible] day Dec. 24, the young[illegible] the oldest son of Mr. John Crellin, [illegible] both of Oy[illegible] ville, W. T., while attempting to [illegible] a large mail boat which lay at anchor in the bay of [illegible] the town in a small boat, were both [illegible] The bodies were recovered the next day. The [illegible] boy was about 19 and the other about 11½ years of age. [illegible] were both the good sons of most [illegible]

ROAD TAXES.—One of the Road [illegible] of this county, whose district lies partly in this city, [illegible] in last evening that many [illegible] pay their road tax either in labor or [illegible] to very soon commence suit [illegible] penalty in case of judgment [illegible] found, is the same as in crim[illegible] cannot be collected imprisonment [illegible] It will be a first-class idea for delinquents to pay up.

FREIGHT LIST.—The steamship Ajax [illegible] for San Francisco Dec. 12th, took away the following freight: [illegible] 576 qr sacks flour, 2,655 sacks oats [illegible] 236 sacks onions, 1,466 boxes apples, 153 boxes eggs, 74 kegs [illegible] 2 kegs butter, 753 packages [illegible], 106 bbls. beef and pork, 31½ bbls dried apples, 20 [illegible] 26 bbls salmon, 2 cases bacon, 6 coops chickens, [illegible] 3 pkgs furs, 2 bales skins, 24 cases [illegible] 10 bales and 5 pkgs do.

MAN TRAP.—A resident of the [illegible] ward [illegible] a dangerous man trap in the [illegible] just adjoining the Street C[illegible] fence on Fourth street. We tried to [illegible] him with the [illegible] that such [illegible] were numerous in [illegible] parts of the city, but we don't know whether we made him see it. [illegible] the philosophy that an evil [illegible] being multiplied.

THE MOUNTAIN ROADS.—The road up the [illegible] is said to have become almost totally impassable. The North road is good, but the [illegible] of [illegible] Some teams are coming in that way, but more perhaps [illegible] down the [illegible] Hill road or come in by way of Springville. This [illegible] is inconvenient, and a positive detriment [illegible] to the city and county.

CHRISTMAS BALL AT OREGON CITY.—We [illegible] receipt of a card of invitation to a Christmas Ball to be given at the Court House, Oregon City, on Friday evening, Dec. 25th. Our Oregon City friends [illegible] these things in good style, and we have no doubt but that the coming Christmas party will be gay and [illegible] Nothing preventing Providence, we will be there.

COPPER.—Mr. L. W. Felton, who has just returned from a trip through Southern Oregon, showed us [illegible] day a specimen of almost pure copper obtained from [illegible] creek, in the [illegible] district. He [illegible] that [illegible] [illegible] a large ode near where the specimen [illegible] found, which is believed to be almost pure copper.

NOT EXPECTED TO RECOVER.—We learn with [illegible] regret that the illness of Mr. Fred. W Ch[illegible], of Oregon City is likely to prove fatal. He was [illegible] convalescent a few days ago, but his [illegible] turn, which leaves little hope of a [illegible]

[illegible] In consequence of the prevailing rough weather the steamer Active did not leave [illegible] morning as advertised. It is expected she will sail to-day.

FOR TILLAMOOK.—The schooner J. C. [illegible] is taking in her cargo at the Taylor street wharf and will sail for Tillamook [illegible] day next.

[illegible] POSTPONED.—The sailing of the steamer Active is again postponed on account of the weather until this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

THE MEMBERS OF THE WASHINGTON GUARD are requested to meet promptly [illegible] at Armory at [illegible] o'clock this evening.

GRACEFUL AND PLEASING.—Those new and [illegible] styles of Paris [illegible] so fashionable at the [illegible] can be seen at Burgren & Shindler's. Also, [illegible] articles of ornament and use, for the parlor and the home.

[illegible] NEWS CONCERNING OREGON —The New Orleans Crescent gives some valuable information in its [illegible] concerning Oregon It says Portland has [illegible] inhabitants exclusive of the [illegible] We accept the eight thousand inhabitants as [illegible] of the way At all events if we have not that we shall have in the course of time so that this [illegible] is sure to come true We are more [illegible] about the railroad clause Seeing is believing [illegible] can't seen on We don't object to six if the [illegible] or any other man can point them out so far that we should feel disposed to hooray If our optics could behold one We think one would [illegible] institution— handy to have in the house [illegible] we shall have one some of these days and [illegible] shall hope the Crescent man will duly herald the [illegible] He might say now with great [illegible] imagination for his facts that the success [illegible] in Oregon has been such that we [illegible] under construction each of which is grasping the other by the books of the law and engaged in a [illegible] match for the Congressional subsidy [illegible] venture to inform the Crescent man [illegible] the upper dog in the fight We are holler[ing] and praying a good deal for both of them [illegible] they ought to let up in their fight We have [illegible] too much demolition [illegible] little talk [illegible] muddle of all sizes, and too much of legal [illegible] gymnastics though to be candid we look [illegible] of it. The muddle is probably not sufficiently [illegible] yet. But after all when the gymnastic pro[ceedings] have ended, we suppose these two roads (we [illegible] say six) will be built and unless the [illegible] and intelligence of our people are sadly [illegible] own highest interest and progress they [illegible] terminal at Portland where there are [illegible] inhabitants and no beggars No beg[illegible] well, then we suppose that as there are [illegible] as well as in low, we may conclude [illegible] high nor low The Crescent is a [illegible] but we don't complain We would wish [illegible] people and could not be so low as [illegible] The betwixt and betweenity condition is [illegible] all things considered the most pleas[illegible] say we.

[illegible] RUFFIANISM.—We hear of another in[stance of] ruffianism, which, added to the many [illegible] seem to demand the serious atten[tion of the] authorities On Wednesday evening, [illegible] some of whom are in the habit of prowling [illegible] in no creditable way got after a Chinese [illegible] up about Fourth street and chased him [illegible], hurling at him sticks stones and mud [illegible] they could lay their hands upon The boy [illegible] finally, in the Western Hotel and some by[illegible] the gang of ruffianly boys. The [illegible] not hurt, but he was in danger and while [illegible] going on, it would have been unsafe for any [illegible], as the flying missiles might have [illegible] Mr Bothwell being informed of the row [illegible] the boys, who had by this time skedaddled [illegible] from him that he caught one of them hid in [illegible] gave him some sound advice, but made [illegible] than is not what these young rogues [illegible] little practical thrashing by their parents [illegible] at home, or if that won't do, a little con[finement in] the city jail, would be more effective The [illegible] for ladies or children, demands that [illegible] be cured As it is it is dangerous [illegible] upon the street after dark It would [illegible] most people to learn how many boys, [illegible] men too, are out upon the streets till [illegible] later A person who travels about [illegible] hour will frequently find gangs of them [illegible], evidently on no honest errand It is [illegible] growing, and one that calls [illegible]

[illegible] MAYOR'S OFFICE.—The resig[nation of] Hoffman will take effect on the 24th [illegible] vacant on that day, but not before [illegible] that some of the leading members of the [illegible] that no action in [illegible] to the [illegible] can be taken, under the charter as [illegible] shall actually exist. Section [illegible] provides, 'that a vacancy in any office [illegible] failure of the person elected to qualify [illegible] in section 24, or made by or con[illegible] of any court, or in any of the [illegible] 27 of this act, shall be filled by [illegible] to be held on such day as the Council by [illegible] act, and in the manner and in pursu[ance] of section 14 of this act ' The [illegible] mentioned construe this to mean that the [illegible] for special elections cannot be pass[ed] [illegible] shall actually occur If this be correct, [illegible] charter is a specimen of inexcusable legal [illegible] The office must, of course, remain vacant [illegible] the taking effect of the resignation till [illegible] pass an ordinance and till a notice [illegible] been held. The charter should [illegible] Mayor power to appoint an officer to serve

[illegible] CELEBRATION —We have received a card [illegible] which we learn that the colored peo[ple] [illegible] upon a celebration of the [illegible] of the [illegible] of the slaves [illegible] States. The exercises will be held [illegible] in this city, commencing at 6 P M [illegible] of the reading of the Emancipa[tion] [illegible], prayer, oration, poem, music, vocal [illegible] and other literary exercises The [illegible] delivered by the Rt. [illegible] One of the Road Supervisors of this [illegible] district lies partly in this city, informed [illegible] that many persons positively refused to [illegible] tax either in labor or money He proposes [illegible] suit against all such persons The [illegible] case of judgment, where no property can be [illegible] the same as in criminal convictions where a fine [illegible] collected imprisonment. It will be a first [illegible] for delinquents to pay up

[illegible] LIST —The steamship Ajax which sailed for [illegible] Dec. 12th took away the following freight [illegible] sacks flour 2 555 sacks oats 29 sacks wheat [illegible] onions 1 466 boxes apples 183 boxes eggs 74 [illegible], 2 kegs butter 153 packages salmon 106 bbls [illegible] pork, 31½ bbls dried apples 26 sacks do 28 [illegible], 2 cases bacon 6 coops chickens 6 cases tal[illegible] furs 2 bales skins, 24 cases mdse 10 bales [illegible] do

[illegible] TRAP —A resident of the up-town ward complains [illegible] a dangerous man trap in the sidewalk, just [illegible] the Street Commissioner's fence on Fourth [illegible] We tried to console him with the information [illegible] places were numerous in other parts of the city [illegible] know whether we made him see it. He was [illegible] the philosophy that an evil is not [illegible] by [illegible] multiplied

[illegible] ROADS —The road up the Canyon is said [illegible] become almost totally impracticable The North [illegible], but the crossing of Tanner creek is danger[ous] [illegible] teams are coming in that way but more [illegible] now come down the Robinson Hill road or [illegible] way of Springville. This of course, is in[illegible] and a positive detriment and disgrace to the [illegible]

[illegible] BALL AT OREGON CITY —We acknowledge the [illegible] card of invitation to a Christmas Ball to be [illegible] Court House, Oregon City on Friday eve[ning] [illegible] 25th Our Oregon City friends generally do [illegible] in good style and we have no doubt but [illegible] Christmas party will be gay and festive [illegible] Providence we will be there

[illegible] L. W Felton who has just returned [illegible] through Southern Oregon showed us yester[day] [illegible] of almost pure copper, obtained from a [illegible] the Bohemia district He represents that a [illegible] large lode near where this specimen was [illegible] is believed to be almost pure copper

[illegible] TO RECOVER —We learn with sincere re[gret] [illegible] of Mr Fred W Charman of Ore[gon City] [illegible] likely to prove fatal He was thought to be [illegible] a few days ago, but his disease has taken a [illegible] leaves little hope of a favorable result

One day while promenading the streets of the town
With a very poor chapeau surmounting my crown
I met an old friend whom my taste did not flatter
For he asked me [illegible]— Who is your Hatter

My good friend ' I answered of such I have none;
Tis long since I made the acquaintance of one,
My head gear I know is all going to seed
But I'll visit your Hatter if you'll take the lead

Agreed he replied so we sauntered along
And making our way through the gay busy throng
Each puffing [illegible] cigar
We stopped at the [illegible] at MUESSDORFFER'S Bazaar

Well and [illegible] of Fashion well stored
With Hats and Caps fit for a lord!
I was speedily suited in price fit and style,
And observed to my friend with a satisfied smile
Your judgment [illegible] other matters
Is unerring [illegible] MUESSDORFFER the Hatter of Hatters

The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the Interior a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned and placed on their guard against this practice

CELEBRATED
AROMATIC
SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON:

I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE citizens of Oregon to my celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS a medicinal Diet Drink of eminently salutary qualities manufactured by myself, exclusively at my factory at Schiedam in Holland

In Gravel Gout and Rheumatism in Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys its effects are prompt decided, and invariably reliable

It is now some twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public and during that time he has received over 3 000 letters from physicians, endorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice

It is made from barley of the finest quality [illegible] with great care from the products of the most [illegible] growing districts is flavored with the [illegible] of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy and is rectified by a peculiar process which expels from the spirit every acrid particle

As a means of preventing and correcting [illegible] the and often dangerous effects produced on [illegible] and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers new settlers and all unacclimated [illegible] are peculiarly liable—the

SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS

Will be found absolutely infallible; while, in cases of dropsy, gravel obstructions of the kidneys and of the bladder stricture dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession

It is put up in quart and pint bottles in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants

Are you WEAK DEBILITATED NERVOUS? Is your sleep disturbed? Do you have palpitation of the heart or an inclination to melancholy? Diseases of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC which will be found in

Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is sold by all Grocers and Apothecaries

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is recommended by all the Medical Faculty

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps

Is imitated and counterfeited, and purchasers will have to use caution in purchasing.

WOLFE'S AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS,

Imported by UDOLPHO WOLFE, of New York, expressly for medicinal and private use.

WHAT DO YOU DRINK?

Wolfe's Schiedam Schnapps.

It checks the Diarrhea [illegible] of the Raw [illegible]

The Scandalous Life Romantic Marriage, and Despairing Death of the Marquis of Hastings

[Correspondence of the New York Times.]

London Wednesday Nov. 11, 1868.

Yesterday there died in London a nobleman of whom your readers must have read much from time to time a life which story would prove a memorable warning if the proper lesson were learned from the experience of others, to young men of every rank of life. The Marquis of Hastings had made a world wide reputation, but it was a reputation which would have broken the heart of any one who possessed acute susceptibilities on the score of honor. He was the greatest gambler in the peerage. He had won as much as £10,000 on a single race and lost £100,000 on another. When the last Derby was contested his fortunes were said to be dependent on the running of a mare, Lady Elizabeth. She came up to the starting post a scarecrow, poisoned and ruined, no one has ever yet found out by whom. There were some ugly scandals connected with the affair and it was even said that the Marquis of Hastings added an additional stain to his name by nefarious transactions relative to the Earl and Lady Elizabeth. Certain it is that from that time to the present he has never held up his head. He wished to go on the Newmarket course at the last meeting, but the very men who had thrown up their hats and cheered him when he was making ducks and drakes of his fortune sternly denied him his request. He had parted with every rood of land he ever possessed and was heavily in debt in all directions. He had lost everything—including honor. Yesterday, when he died, he was only twenty six. What wild pleasures and excitements, what bitter crimes and disappointments, had been crowded into that brief life! Many who had seen the young Marquis driving his four-in-hand, with hat stuck on one side and a gay flower in his coat, have envied him his brilliant career, and what they deemed his happiness. Despair and dishonor sat by his death bed yesterday. Who now envies the last look out upon the world, which the unhappy nobleman, heir of a line going back to the Conquest, was doomed to take before the darkness closed in? Et nos quoque tela sparsimus. "We too have flung our darts"—such was his family motto. They were darts of death and destruction, and returned upon the last of the race. For not only are wealth, horses, land, all gone, but the very name died out with the present Marquis. He married about four years ago, but left no children.

Of his marriage, your readers, even in rural districts, must have read something at the time it took place. It was one of the romances of the peerage which every one would have laughed at as wildly improbable if it had been presented as one of the incidents of a novel. The daughter of the second Marquis of Anglesey, Lady Florence Paget, was a well known beauty, (she is now only twenty-six) and, perhaps she a little startled old fashioned people by her style of life. She was engaged to be married in 1864 to a man well known in the racing world—Mr. Chaplin. It was the very Mr. Chaplin who won £100,000 from the Marquis of Hastings last year—the final blow of the Marquis' shattered fortune. On the day before the wedding day Lady Florence went into Swan & Edgar's dry goods warehouse in Regent street, which extends from one street to another. She entered the house at the Regent street end, and quitted it in Piccadilly, leaving her own carriage (Mr. Chaplin's) on Regent street. In Piccadilly the Marquis of Hastings met her, and they went straight off and got married, leaving Mr. Chaplin to meditate on the perfection of aristocratic honor at his leisure. As for the stories which have since been about the town, I pass them by. They may not have been true, and it will be far from a pleasant task to go wading among them.

After the marriage the Marquis went down hill at a faster gate than ever. Everybody but himself could see how it would end. Is it not always so when a man is hurrying to his ruin? He rushes, headlong, with ears deaf to entreaty and remonstrances, and eyes closed to danger. The dead Marquis squandered a splendid inheritance in five years. His sister bought of him the reversionary interest in the ancestral estates of the family, or they, too, would have gone to the Jews and the insatiable crowd of racing men. His epitaph, as represented to the world by the Times this morning is as follows: "A short five years has rendered the name of the Marquis of Hastings a by-word; has reduced the Marquis' estate in the prey of unprincipled speculators, and has consigned the Marquis himself to an untimely and unhonored grave." What need of words to paint the moral of such a career? And yet we shall see other young men, noble or commoners, born to the inheritance of great wealth, doing precisely the very same thing as this Marquis has done, and coming probably to the same end. The experience of others is ever written in vain.

[From the London Daily News, Nov. 11.]

"The earl's year" has reached a sad climax in the death of its leading actor. The spider and the fly drama is ended. The poor cornered youth who had crowded into six years more Corinthian excitement and weightier turf cares, than many "fast men" know in a life time, has laid down his weary load. He was only twenty-six in July, and he had frittered away two fine family estates. Betting is said to be the touchstone of the Englishman's sincerity, but with the Marquis a craving for the odds had become a disease. He worshipped chance with all the ardor of a fanatic. His wits were, he considered, worth to him in the betting ring at least £20,000 a year, and he sometimes threaded his way through the mazes of trials and public runnings with all the sagacity of a [illegible]. His public coups were often so brilliant, that it was hardly to be wondered at that he believed in his own destiny and his power to break the ring. He cared little whether the draining or other improvements on his Donington estate were stopped, if he only got fresh supplies for every Newmarket campaign. The ring, on the other hand, had marked him for their own, and never left him. They would cluster beneath the Jockey Club balcony at Epsom, holding up their hands to claim his attention, and catching at his replies like a flock of hungry hawks. There he stood smiling at the wild tumult below, wearing his hat jauntily on one side, a red flower in his button-hole, and his colors round his neck, cool and calm while the "talent" made his horse a "hot favorite" at once, and a few slipped back to the ring to follow his lead. For a time he was a perfect Cocker; but he fell at last in the unequal strife, and the men who had drawn him most copiously were among those who set their faces most sternly against him when he wished to see the Heath once again.

Two politicians of Indianapolis made an agreement that if Seymour was elected President, J. M. was to take a wife in six weeks or forfeit $500, and if Grant was elected C. W. was to do the same. The gentlemen are both old bachelors, and the question with the loser now is a pecuniary one, whether $500 paid out and no marriage would, in the long run, be a better investment than marriage and numerous $500 bills in the future.

The city clock of Galveston, Texas, was recently sold on execution for debt. Thereupon the city press announce that the city finances are in a terrible "muddle," denounce the Mayor, and call upon him to resign. The question is, what will the purchaser do with the clock?

"I wish I could prevail on my neighbor Quincer to keep the Sabbath," said good old Mr. Jones. "I will tell you how to do it," exclaimed young Smith, "get some one to lend it to him, and I'll be bound he will keep it. He was never known to return anything he had borrowed."

The Roman Catholics of London are about erecting a cathedral, which will be the most spacious and attractive in the world. The ground on which it is to be built cost $200,000. This will be the first recognized Roman Catholic cathedral in England, since the days of Queen Mary.

It caused the greatest trouble to scrape together £200 with which to put a suitable memorial over the grave of Leigh Hunt. Yet (it is stated) if all who wrote letters to the newspapers in favor of the project, had subscribed a couple of cents each the sum would have been raised.

In New Orleans audiences gaze in breathless wonderment on a woman who nightly enters a lion's den and performs thrilling feats, the gaping spectators being ignorant of the fact that the claws and molars of the lions have been extracted.

There was a queer scene in a Brooklyn court the other day, when two wives and two engaged sweethearts confronted a gay deceiver. When he was convicted of bigamy, and sentenced, all four women covered their faces and wept.

George Elliot speaks, in one of his novels, of that highly respectable type of the upper class of British society "who get their science done for them by Farraday, and their religion by the dignified clergy."

The Paris Temps says that Andrew Johnson, who will visit Europe next spring, will be stared at by thousands who read about his trial, and thought, if convicted, he would be sent to the scaffold.

New York is to have street letter boxes that will admit newspapers and parcels that cannot be stolen from, and that will indicate on a dial the hour of the next collection.

Sing Sing prison claims the finest choir in the country.

Mr. Zachariah Wilson, Portland, Oregon writes,

It requires an article of real merit and intrinsic value to sustain itself during the stormy ordeal of public experiments. Murray's Improved Magic Oil has stood the test of time and has not been found wanting. The astonishing efficacy that I experienced—its curing me of Chronic Rheumatism and Lumbago, of long standing, entitles Dr. Murray's Premium Lung and Liver Balsam and Improved Magic Oil to a high rank in the list of remedies for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Marasthe Distressing Pains etc.

John English of Howell Prairie, Marion county, Oregon writes:

I was taken with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my knee joints and extremities accompanied with excessive cough for two months so that I had to use crutches. Meanwhile trying all remedies in common use. Your Magic Oil and Balsam gave me instant relief and I was able to walk in four days without crutches. I have not felt any rheumatism since. I have seen your family medicines used with excellent success. I have no hesitancy in saying it is the best preparation for family use ever tried for those complaints. I am now on my way to South America after residing in Oregon twenty years. I must now have two dozens Balsam and two dozens of your Magic Oil dollar bottles as I am sure they are the best remedies in Oregon and I would not be without them in my house and when this package of medicine is exhausted I will send to your office in Portland for a fresh supply. CHANGE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Seully, have been obliged for their own protection and the safety of the public to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

MERCADO'S Native California Wine BITTERS.

We subjoin the following affidavit in an injunction suit formerly pending between Mercado & Seully, plaintiffs and [illegible] defendant.

P. Sainsevain, being duly sworn says, That the article known as Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Seully at the month of March 1861, [illegible] in the manufacture thereof. The deponent has always known and considered said Mercado & Seully as the sole proprietors of the Sainsevain California Wine Bitters.

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Sainsevain is putting up a compound under the name of Sainsevain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters, which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1861 and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED. Send for

MERCADO'S NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1861. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label and see that the words MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO, are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitation.

PROSPECTUS

OF THE

Weekly Oregonian.

FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to every thing of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing, AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

TELEGRAMS FROM THE EAST AND EUROPE

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

Commercial Reports

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered on our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK, in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.
